In short

I consider myself to be a jack of all trades. In my 14+ years of work experience, I've come in contact with nearly all aspects of development, communication and design.

I have experience in:

- frontend development
- backend development (Drupal, Wordpress)
- animation and motion design
- game development
- project management
- illustration and iconography
- functional design and UX
- storytelling and storyboarding
- video editing
- audio production
- 3D
- 3D-printing
- server configuration

This allows me to be involved in all stages of a project and to provide solutions across a diverse range of media.

The synergy and interaction between these disciplines is also what motivates me to continuously learn and better myself.
